FREE COINAGE IN THE PHILIPPINES.

It is authoritatively stated that plans are being considered by the United States government for the establishment of free coinage at Manila. According to George O. Roberts, Director of Mints, two plans have been proposed, both of which contemplate the free coinage of silver in the Philippines. One is to coin Philippine dollars for circulation among the natives which shall be redeemable in gold at a fixed ratio.

"Under this plan," says the Director, "producers of silver would sell their product to establishments having trade relations with the east, which would have it coined at the Manila mint and put in circulation. The second plan is to coin a token dollar, about the size of the Mexican dollar, with enough less silver to prevent it from going to the melting pot or out of the country, interchangeable with the Mexican dollar and redeemable in gold equally with Mexican coin."

We were going to say something about the fixed ratio, which we had supposed was already "fixed" at 16 to 1. But come to think of it, the Philippines, although belonging to the United States are not a part of them, and Congress with its imperialistic power can "fix" it at 160, or 1600, to 1 if it chooses to do so. But that isn't what we are kicking about. We most solemnly protest, in the name of humanity and justice, against the despised white metal, which isn't good enough for our home people, being forced upon the poor unfortunate natives in the Philippines. Why thrust upon the six millions of islanders the odious system of bimetalism, which, if it hadn't been arrested in the nick of time would have proven the everlasting ruin of over seventy millions in the United States property? Perhaps our government proposes to adopt the beneficent system of Great Britain in her commercial relations with India—buying the native products at gold rates and paying for them in the reduced local currency of her colonial subjects. At all events we sincerely hope that the repudiated bimetallic scheme of the national gander may prove both palatable and digestible to the Philippine goos, even if it is a "forced put" with her to swallow it.

IMPERIALISTIC POWER.

There is one connection in the U. S. Supreme Court decision in the insular cases upon which all of the nine judges agree, although four of them dissent from the majority decision itself. The judges are unanimous in their opinion that the decision gives to Congress absolute and complete control over subject peoples as that ever possessed by the absolute, unlimited monarchies of the world. The only restriction is that life and property shall be protected. It matters not whether what Congress proposes shall be done conforms to the principles of what have characterized this government for more than a hundred years, and still less if possible, whether the fundamental law is to be regarded as a restriction or a guide. It does not matter whether taxation without representation is just or not just. These are things which are left entirely to Congress, regardless of such old foggy instruments as the Declaration of Independence or the Federal Constitution. These islands over which we gained title belong to the United States but are not a part of them. Congress has complete control of them, with power to do as it chooses, and the islanders must submit, willingly if they choose, but through compulsion if they resist. If Congress chooses to govern the Philippines by as many different methods as there are islands, well and good. The natives must submit. Porto Rico may be forever governed the same as now, or may be modified in any respect and be made as "simple" as it is proposed to do in Mindanao; give one man absolute executive, judicial and legislative authority, or it may admit it as a State or as a territory.

Such are the powers given to Congress according to the opinion of the entire Supreme Court bench. There was difference in the construction of the words of the Constitution, but none as to the construction of the words of the decision. If the power conferred does not constitute imperialism it would be difficult to construct even a hypothetical case which would embrace its meaning. The possibilities of danger from the license permitted is absolutely appalling.

AN ICONOCLASTIC SCRUB.

A sanctimonious varlet, one of those killjoys who go about smashing idols and all creations of imagery which fill childhood with innocent joy, delivered an address before the Society of Religious Education in Detroit a few Sunday ago.

His theme was, "The Nudity School as it should be," and among other churchish remarks he declared that it was folly to have little children stand up and sing, "I want to be an Angel." In the ideal school, he declared that children will not be "so silly as to ask for such impossible things." What a case hardened and cold blooded creature a man must be who would destroy the angels of childhood, which, if only a portion of the poetry of the Bible, is one of the most beautiful conceptions of the Christian religion. This Detroit Gradgrind, after knocking out the angels should have made some cheerful and practical remarks in relation to hell's pavement, with an estimate of the number of skulls of angel loving children it would require to furnish material for a hundred square feet of that kind of flooring. Such a fellow deserves consignment to a childless realm with a diet of sour apples sweetened with lime juice during the term of his natural eternity.

LONG DISTANCE POWER.

Any new development in the uses of electricity would hardly cause surprise, as there seems to be no limit to its possibilities. Its long distance power has not yet been thoroughly tested for practical use on account of the failure so far to discover a cheap and efficient storage battery, although it is said that Edison is about to produce one which will meet the requirements. It is said that the Oakland, California, street railway company is using the greatest distance power that has yet been applied to motive purposes. The current is generated by water power 140 miles away. To lessen the cost of copper conductors, a high voltage alternating current is used, 11,000 volts, and it is stated that the loss on the line is only five per cent. The line is to be, or is being, extended fifty miles to San Jose, and presumably a current of higher voltage will be used. The copper wire used is a sixteenth of an inch in diameter, and alloyed with aluminum to limit oxidation.

It is strange even under the present conditions that greater use has not already been made of water power for generating currents to be transmitted to a distance. Water, if not the greatest in itself, is the source of the other powers in practical use. Without water there could be no steam, and without steam or water power electricity could not be generated, and the same may be said of liquefied air, which is now in its experimental stage. So water is the primary motive power of the world and its supply is continuous and inexhaustible.

The Truckee river has sufficient volume and force to generate ten times the amount of electricity to furnish all of the power required for every purpose within fifty miles of each side of the stream, or that in all probability will be required for many years to come. It is a matter of little doubt that during the first quarter of the new century our method of generating and using power will be as completely revolutionized as it has been in the last hundred years. But under nature's laws it is hardly probable that any substitute for water for a starter will be discovered. Experiments have been made in attempts to utilize gravitation and cohesion but with no practical success or the prospect of it except for minor purposes. The air currents are too unreliable to be depended upon, and atmospheric pressure can only be made the aid of its sister element as its primary source. The water power of the Truckee river, or the greatest portion of it, has been going to waste because not utilized. But in time it will become of great practical use and without lessening its present usefulness for irrigation purposes. With such a system of water storage as is entirely practicable, and which will in time be consummated, there will be plenty for land moisture with enough surplus to supply electric power for a radius of fifty miles from any portion of the stream.

A GLORIOUS VICTORY.

The scribe of this department of the JOURNAL is as happy as a lark and proud as Cuffy over the victory achieved on Sunday by the Reno Wheelmen. They bested the champion team of the Golden State and it is evident that material for their Waterloo cannot be gathered on the Pacific Coast. The Garden City boys took their defeat gracefully and manfully and bore away with them the best wishes of all Renoites for their success in all contests on the sunset side of the Sierras. The whole affair was splendidly managed and conducted by the Reno Club, with but a single exception in the details. A few barrels of ice water distributed near the grand stand would have made the arrangements complete. As it was, the bar where temperance drinks were dispensed, and a pump a hundred yards or more away were the only facilities for the slaking of thirst. We have heard considerable complaint of this omission, especially by gentlemen who accompanied ladies and children to the grounds. We are confident, however, that this will not occur on future occasions, when ample facilities will be made for a plentiful and convenient supply of the fluid of nature's distillation.

RENO STILL UNCONQUERED

NEVADA'S brain and brawn have again been pitted against the flower of California's athletes. Strong limbs and clear heads on either side, but Nevada won. Nevada always wins now-a-days. A new spirit has been born in the State. The Battleborn Commonwealth feels that it is strong and resourceful. There has arisen within it a new life that goes forth to conquer on the peaceful battlefields of athletics, commerce and learning. The day, has come when the sleeper has awakened and put on strength.

THE fourteenth of July will pass down into history as a red letter day partly because it was on that date some years ago that something known as the Battle fell, but that doesn't matter much. The real interest attached to the day is that it was then Reno clinched the championship of the coast in relay riding.

For the past two years the cyclists of this city have been invincible. The Olympic Acme, Carson, Suisunville and Sacramento teams met defeat at the hands, or rather legs of the Reno riders. But there was still a lingering suspicion in the minds of some people that California would yet produce a team of relay riders that would prove the superior of the locals. The famous Garden City riders of San Jose were the most feared. Their record has been one of almost uninterrupted victories. Trophies galore adorn their club room.

In fear and trembling the Reno riders lined up against them, but at no time in the race did the plucky boys from Santa Clara have a show to win. They were out-trained, out-muscled, out-winded and out-generated, but they rode the race of their lives and did game.

A splendid lot of fellows are the Garden City boys, from captain to substitute. They are as good losers as they are winners. "Our only kick," said one of the riders after the contest, "is that we couldn't kick the pedals hard enough."

Reno was in gala attire Sunday. Nearly every person upon the streets wore the red and white, the colors of the Reno Wheelmen.

FROM EVERY QUARTER

Reno was filled with visitors from other towns Sunday. There was a good sized delegation from Verdi. Wadsworth had a number of representatives. Nearly a hundred people came by train and private conveyance from the Comstock.

But greatest of all in representation was the Capitol City. Carson was down in force—a whole crowded trainful of people.

They came to root for Reno and did so in real earnest. Every Carsonite wore the colors of the Reno Wheelmen's club.

There is nothing small about the people of our sister city. Our victory was theirs and no happier folk were to be found in Reno after the race than the visitors from up the road.

They wore the life of the occasion. They brought their hand with them and bet their money on the Reno team.

Only one thing marred the pleasure of their visit. There was some complaint made that one or two of the hotel men overstepped the bounds in the matter of over charging for refreshments and that they showed scant courtesy—to say the least—to the visitors. If this complaint is true, Reno owes an apology to the visitors. It is to be hoped that any individual grievances of this sort will in no wise affect in the future the intimate cordial between the sister towns of Nevada.

MUSIC IN THE AIR

The Carson band was a great addition to the pleasure of the day. This splendid organization came as free gifts. Their expenses were borne by the visitors. Their playing before the race had much to do with attracting the crowd to the track. They played during the relays and, later in the day, gave a concert from the balcony of Wheelmen's Hall that was enjoyed by thousands of people.

The Journal on behalf of the people of Reno returns a vote of thanks to the peerless Nevada State band.

RYAN IS KING.

There is no denying the fact that King Ryan is a wonder. It cannot be truthfully said that good luck has been the secret of his success in training the Reno relay riders and the University foot ball team. He has never lost a race for us. Quite a nut is that which grows on top of Ryan's neck. Reno has gained great prestige through him and he will help us to gain many more laurels in the future. Hurrah for King Ryan.

HOW THE RACE WAS WON.

The grand stand was densely packed, a crowd was ranged along the track fence and two hundred vehicles were drawn up on the green sward. Meanwhile the band played on.

A lithe, sinewy figure, swathed in a red and white bath robe, trotted out of the dressing room. A red and black clad athlete followed him and the music of the band was drowned in the tumultuous cheering from three thousand throats.

"On with the race, let the speed be unconfined!"

"Are the timers ready?"

"Yes," answered Doane, Warden, Rosenthal, Leeper and White.

"Are the scorers ready?"

"Messrs. Coffin, Robinson, Jacobs, Blair and Mahon replied 'Aye'."

Gates of San Jose and Kornmeyer of Reno swung lightly into the saddle.

Referee Webster, Associate Referee Hawcroft and Ganz, Judges Conditine, Rafferty and Backrath and Clerk of the Johnson for Reno and Frances for San Jose were the next entries. This relay was a steady jog. Neither rider gained materially on his opponent, but Johnson was much fresher at the finish.

The next pickups were neatly made. The five miles were uneventful. Mer-shon had a much bigger gear than Little Marty and the latter seemed to be making the better time, but the score card shows that the big, lank Renolite made slight gains on the visitor.

Now came Thompson for "we uns" and Lecher for the "they uns." This was another evenly matched relay. The Renolite, however, made a gain on the visitor and it was fast becoming a trailing race with San Jose a lap behind.

Hart picked up Thompson and came down the line at a terrific burst of speed. He made the first mile in 15 2-5, gaining several hundred feet on Lowe. In the remaining four miles other gains were made and lost.

Little Peckham, the fifteen-year-old vinder, took his turn. He rode in splendid form against Wastie. The latter made his five miles in one second less time than the Reno kid.

Art Peckham now took five speedy spins around the oval. His opponent was McDonald. Steadily the gap was closed. The two teams were not far apart when Stanley came to the bat.

The wearied Garden City man was quickly overhauled and caught on the back stretch, while the grand standers howled like three thousand maniacs.

Wing and Stanley and Keddie and Downing had two trailing relays with alternating paces.

Fast and furious time was made. Wheels bumped together and the riders could hear each other breathing. There was little or no applause. Although victory was assured the audience were interested even more than in that outcome in the effort being made to reduce or increase the lead from the flat mile.

Neither rider could shake the other until in the final eighth when Keddie put every muscle to working and forged past the redoubtable Downing, winning his relay by about fifteen feet.

Many were the congratulations showered upon the local riders and expressions of sympathy were tendered to the vanquished.

The visitors did not seem to be greatly cast down over their defeat. J. W. Dermody, the jolly little captain of the San Jose team, said to a Journal reporter:

"We were beaten fair and square. Our boys never went against a better lot of fellows than the Reno Wheelmen's relay team. We want you to come down and ride with us in the hundred mile road race."

COURSE MOZINGO gathered at the tape Starter Coffin fired his pistol and the race was on. Away went the riders down the home stretch with six thousand eyes following them.

The watches marked 2 16 1-5. Around the track they sped at an even gait. At every quarter the pace making was changed and no effort made to gain advantage, fair or foul. It began to look like a waiting race. The home stretch was reached. The San Jose trainer threw a cup of water into Gates' face as he passed.

"Good bye," Kornmeyer waved his hand to his opponent and before the latter could shake the moisture from his eyes he was left several rods in the rear. The Reno man gained slowly but steadily and at the end of the first relay Gates was two hundred yards to the bad.

Limberg, the next San Jose rider, started too soon to make the pickup and got in advance of Gates. Rather than seem to be attempting to take an advantage, the Garden City boy dismounted. Before he could get on his feet in motion he was left behind and the local gain was extended.

Peckham made a beautiful pickup and plugged along at a steady rate of speed.

Limberg rode gamely, but began to wobble in the last mile from exhaustion. Peckham, on the other hand, as did all the Reno riders, alighted as fresh as a rose.

THE PAVING QUESTION

Sound Advice Given by "Citizen" to the People of Reno.

Editor Journal: I was present this morning at the meeting of the County Commissioners as a Town Board, when the subject of paving certain streets of the city came up for consideration. It was evident from what was said during the meeting that the Commissioners and the people were not in possession of facts sufficient to enable them to act wisely on the subject and an adjournment of the whole matter was taken until Thursday next at ten o'clock.

It seems to me that there should be a general discussion of the whole matter amongst our people, in regard to the best plan to be followed to secure the construction of a substantial and durable pavement at the lowest cost price.

Hasty action either upon the part of property owners on the lines of the streets that it is proposed to pave in making individual contracts that might result in work not uniform in character should be avoided.

The commissioners no doubt will thoroughly investigate the whole subject and through their employees and agents will probably be able to gather more facts bearing upon the paving proposition, both in relation to the character of the pavement to be laid down and the cost of construction, than individual citizens are likely to take the time and trouble to ascertain.

Would it not be well then for the citizens before entering into contracts to pave in front of their respective lots to await the action of the commissioners with a view of not only getting the best pavement for the least money, but of gaining many other advantages that may result from such a course?

It strikes me that the letting of contracts by individuals in advance of the Board and without concert amongst the individuals themselves is very much like attempting to move a heavy loaded wagon with a lot of balky horses.

Let all of our citizens act together and secure the very best pavement possible at the least expense.

CITIZEN.

COUNTY FATHERS

Brief Session of the Commissioners and the Town Board.

A meeting of the Board of County Commissioners was held yesterday. All the county dads were in attendance.

A communication was received from the auditor stating that a tax of seventy cents and valorem on the $100 of taxable property in Verdi School District, No. 7, would raise the required $2000 needed to build the addition to the school house and make necessary repairs to the main building. It was ordered that the tax be levied.

Disposition was made of the bills of the Wadsworth fire department.

Relief in the sum of $10 was granted to David Freed, after which the Board adjourned until the 18th and reconvened as a Town Board.

The matter of creating the office of Fire Marshal and making an appointment to that office was laid over until the next meeting.

Petitions from citizens and taxpayers relative to the paving of certain thoroughfares in this city were read and the matter laid over until the next meeting. An adjournment was taken until the 1st.

APPORTIONMENT OF SCHOOL MONIES.

To school trustees—I have this day apportioned to the several school districts of Washoe county, the sum of $12,241.71 I received from the State of Nevada, being the second semi-annual apportionment of State school moneys for 1901, as follows:

A RENO WEDDING.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Sparks ranch, which united Miss Evelyn Sprague to Mr. Addison Lee, a young business man of Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Stubbs performed the ceremony last evening. Only a few intimate friends of the family were present. A number of handsome presents were received by the bride. The couple took the 12.45 train for San Francisco where they will spend a week and then return to their home at Columbus, Ohio.

WILL TRY NEW FIELDS.

J. H. Brown, the indefatigable prospector, has bonded or sold all the claims in this vicinity in which he is interested and will now turn his attention to another part of the State. He left last evening on the liner for Austin where he will engage in prospecting. Mr. Brown is the most industrious and one of the luckiest prospectors that ever hit this camp.

FRATERNAL FEED.

Court Mount Rose, A. O. F., held a smoker last evening after the regular business was transacted. A bounteous repast was served.

The Monarch is the best dining place in the city. Regular meals and short orders served. Commercial lunch at noon is an attractive feature of the house. Proprietor Simpson strives to please his patrons.

M. E. Meyer, assignee for San Francisco and New York creditors, will dispose of a $10,000 stock of new up-to-date goods regardless of cost. Wait for it.

ANOTHER FIRE IN THE WEST END

An alarm was rung in at 3 35 yesterday afternoon from box 23 at Second and Stevenson streets. The blaze was in a summer kitchen at the residence of P. Questa near Second and Ralston streets.

The department made a very quick run. The water was on before ten minutes after the alarm. The new hose wagon saved its cost at this fire for it was the means of saving the Vational residence next door. The hose wagon beat the steamer to the fire by half a block.

The fire was caused by two little children playing with a lighted lamp. The loss is less than $100 and is covered by insurance.

A NATURAL ERROR.

When the east-bound train pulled into Reno Sunday evening pandemonium was reigning around the depot. Our good friends from Carson were about to embark for the return trip. There were several hundred of them and an equal number of Renolites were there to bid them God speed.

Horns were tooting, fire-crackers were popping and general confusion and hilarity prevailed.

A presumably eastern man and his wee son alighted from the overland. The little chap took in the scene at a glance and, turning to his parental ancestor, inquired, "Pa, are those Indians?"

Hard times, cuts no ice with hard times prices, regardless of cost, was for hard times, when its true, and true is this sale which we will hold next to Nevada bank. Notice of opening later.

M. E. MEYER, Assignee for S. F. and N. Y. creditors.

CONCERNING THE VOLUNTEERS

The Volunteers of America have been given the use of the Baptist Church for their revival meetings. The first meeting they held was largely attended. Capt. R. Watson has secured the services of Evangelist Oliver Johnson of the First M. E. Church of San Jose, California, for two weeks. This revival meeting is undenominational. The Volunteers of America movement is different from the Salvation Army in that they co-operate with the churches in evangelizing our cities. The Volunteers are an American institution. It has a Board of Directors. Its form of government is democratic. The V. of A. is not a branch of the Salvation Army as some think, but is an independent movement.

Responsible at the Price.
A certain person of great wealth has hanging in his drawing room a large and hideous daub in oils which some dealer in Paris induced him to buy. He is very fond of taking a call by the art, leading him before the canvas and saying:
"Great picture that. By Macaroni di Vermechelli, you know. Paid $2,000 for it in Paris and got a great bargain. It's (naming an eminent artist) 'says it is worth $10,000.'"
A few days since this gentleman was in the Artists' club when the cat came out of the bag. Some one said:
"F. old Centpercent says that you have appraised that frightful nightmare of his at $10,000. Is it true?"
The artist answered smilingly:
"I will tell you how that happened. He asked me to dinner one day and after we left the table took me to see the picture and told the usual story. Then, turning abruptly, he asked:
"How much is that painting worth?"
"Why, Mr. Centpercent," said I, "I really would not like to place a value upon it."
"Well, I'll put it differently," said he. "How much would you charge for such a picture?"
"I don't mind saying," I answered, "that I would not paint such a picture for $10,000." I had to be civil, you know."—London Answers.

The French Cavalry at Sedan.
Both banks of the Givonne were in German hands; so was Balan, a small village nearer to Sedan than Bazelle, and soon after 1 o'clock no fewer than 426 German guns were halting shells into the French army, which stood in close formations within a space measuring less than two miles in breadth or depth. Out of this terrible hail of death the French cavalry in a heroic endeavor to turn the fortunes of the day and retrieve the honor of France.
General Marguerite, called by some "the star of his arm," was struck in the face by a bullet while riding out to reconnoiter the ground before he charged. He now handed over the cavalry command to De Gallifet, who for the second time on that tremendous day, led the tower of French cavalry against the enemy and for the space of half an hour charged the German ranks again and again on the hillside north of Sedan.
But the courage of the gallant horsemen was all in vain. The arme blanche was unequalledly matched against the breechloading rifle held in steady hands, and no effort of the French cavalry could withstand the slowly tightening grasp of that fiery circle.—Chambers' Journal.

STERIA AND GALLIFET.
A whole fleet in the days of Nelson could be built and fitted out at little more than the cost of a single ironclad. The cost expended on a single cruise would pay for the refitting of his whole battle line, while the immense shells required to make any impression on the modern armor plate cost more than his whole armament. But the modern line of battle ship could neither be built, armed nor fought without the use of steam, and its evolution may be said to have commenced with the first application of the steam engine to navigation.—London Standard.

Similar, but Different.
"Do you think I am capable of acting in a part?" asked the stagestruck youth.
"I do," replied the busy manager, "and the further apart we are when you act the better it will suit me."—Chicago News.

AUGUST FLOWER.
"It is a surprising fact," says Prof. Houston, "that in my travels in all parts of the world, for the last ten years, I have met more people having used Green's August Flower than any other remedy, for dyspepsia, deranged liver and stomach, and for constipation. I find for tourists and salesmen, or for persons filling office positions, where headaches and general bad feelings from irregular habits exist, that Green's August Flower is a grand remedy. It does not injure the system by frequent use, and is excellent for sour stomachs and indigestion." Sample bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson. Sold by all dealers in all civilized countries.
